Needlework Notes

There is a practical cork bag that any housekeeper would appreciate. It would also make a valuable addition for the bazaar table. It is fashioned of a straight piece of material, cretonne, heavy crash, even as in one case, from a strip of brocade, the other materials would be more serviceable. It is gathered at the top by silk cords thru a narrow casing, and on the ends of the cords as tassels dangle small corks to show the purpose of the bag and to give unique ornamentation. Probably the most appreciated part of the bag will be the corkcres attached in tassels fashion to the bottom of the bag by means of a clasp like that on the end of a watch chain. The corkcres will always be in place if snapped back to the bag after using.

A dancing bag deep enough to hold slippers, gloves and vanity outfit, is of peach pink pussy willow silk, drawn up at the top on pale blue ribbon, and lined with pale blue satin. There are two frills of lace, one near the bottom and one midway of the bag's length, each frill put on under a tiny line of fur.

Breaking Down

Apparently the most significant result of the various changes in our living habits is found in our declining power to resist the strain of life on the heart, arteries, kidneys and the nervous and digestive systems, remarks science compared with past decades, the increase in mortality from the early breaking down of these organs is very marked. The records of the last census show that the increase continues in the younger as well as the older age groups. This points to the shortening of the valuable productive period of life. These indications are well attested. They cannot be disposed of by the easy process of denying the statistics without investigation. Nor can the extraordinary increase in cancer be explained in this convenient way. The early breaking down of these important organs points to a decline in the vitality of our people in the mature and most useful period of their lives, and presents a phase of the problem meriting the most careful study and consideration.

For the Housewife

Dark calicoes should be ironed on the wrong side with irons that are not too hot.

In ironing a garment on which hooks are sewed, care should be taken not to close the hooks. You can prevent this by placing flannel or anything soft beneath the hooks.

Recipes

Mother's Turkey Soup—Many of you who have turkey have some left over. Here is a method of making it into delicious soup. Place the frame of a cold turkey with the remnants of dressing and gravy in a kettle, and cover with cold water, simmer gently three hours and let it stand till the next day. Remove the fat, skim off all the bits and bones. Put the soup on to heat until it boils; then thicken slightly with flour wet with water to a smooth paste, and season to taste. Serve with baked potatoes, as a gravy, or as a soup as preferred. Chicken that has been baked can be used in the same manner.

Cabbage with Oysters—Cut a small, firm head of cabbage in quarters, soak in cold water one hour, then put in boiling salted water in which one-quarter of a teaspoon of soda has been added and boil ten minutes. Drain, cover with fresh boiling water, boil until tender and drain again. Melt one tablespoon of butter with two tablespoons of heavy cream, pour over cabbage, sprinkle lightly with curry powder, and cover with boiled oysters.

Coddled Jumbles—To each cup of freshened and flaked fish add two well beaten eggs and mix well. Season with pepper and drop by tablespoonfuls into hot fat. Fry brown. Eggs a la Turk—Prepare scrambled eggs, and pour over six slices of toasted bread. Put one tablespoonful of tomato puree on each piece, and in the center of puree one half tablespoonful of chicken livers sautéed in bacon fat.

Cream of Spinach Soup—Boil three quarts of well washed spinach in boiling water for about thirty minutes. Put a little salt in the water and a teaspoonful of sugar. Drain, chop, and pass thru a sieve. Add to the spinach two pints of white stock. Make a cream sauce with one fourth cupful of butter, one third cupful of flour, and two cupfuls of good milk, and one half cupful of cream; when cooked add to the stock and season with salt and pepper and stir well together. Serve in bouillon cups.

Creole Eggs—Stew one can of tomatoes and one green pepper, shredded, until the tomato is reduced one half; turn on a serving dish, arrange on the tomato five rounds of toast, and upon each of these a poached egg. Melt and brown two tablespoonfuls of butter, add one tablespoon of vinegar or lemon juice, and when the liquid boils pour the sauce over the eggs; sprinkle with salt and pepper and serve at once.

CANNING AND SANITATION

Nothing demonstrates the value of home sanitation in a more practical way than the home canning of fruits and vegetables, according to the demonstration agents of the department of Agriculture and State colleges who are working with the girls' canning clubs in the south. The first step in every canning demonstration is to make certain that the kitchen and all utensils are absolutely clean and that the product to be canned is in sound, wholesome condition. The next step is to sterilize thoroughly utensils, fruit, and cans and jars, as heat and cleanliness are the only preserving elements allowed. In teaching the "why" and "wherefore" of heat and cleanliness in canning, the demonstrators are able to give the girls in a simple way, practical knowledge of the effects of bacteria and molds and to make them realize that dirt is synonymous with these destructive germs. The girl who neglects to take these things into account soon gets a serious object lesson in a spoiled batch of canned vegetables. Following such demonstrations it is far easier to get families to adopt sanitary measures with milk, water and other foods than when the general subject of sanitation is attacked directly or in an abstract way.

In their campaigns against the house fly, the county agents in the south have found that inducing the children to make a home constructed fly trap is far more effective than literature or general discussion of the danger from these typhoid carriers. Once the family installs such a trap and sees that it is catching hundreds and thousands of these dirty insects tight where their food is prepared, they are ready to consider further preventive measures as the destruction of the larvae of flies in the manure heap. It is then not difficult to induce them to screen their doors and windows, and to continue the use of fly traps to catch the few flies that get in in spite of screens. Willingness to exercise the greatest care in the disposition of garbage and filth, and especially to prevent flies from passing from stables and outhouses into the house, follows logically.

Health Notes

There are two very simple but effective remedies for that kind of sleeplessness that comes from overwork or nervous exhaustion. One is to have the feet very warm. Put them against a rubber bag filled with hot water. A rubber bag is better than an earthen bottle, as it will retain the heat for hours. The second method is much more simple. Discard the pillow, turn over and lie on the stomach with hands clasped under the forehead to lift the head a trifle. This will often send one to sleep.

The thing to do if you are desirous of losing flesh is to restrict your diet to clear soups, lean meats, vegetables which contain iron but no fat, such as spinach, carrots, beets, turnips, squash egg plant, oyster plant, celery, tomatoes, brussels sprouts, cabbage and string beans. Eat no corn, potatoes, either white or sweet; lima beans, peas, white bread, thick gravies, mayonnaise dressings, or salad; in fact, any dressing that contains much olive oil, or deserts. Eat fruit in the place of dessert, cut out cream and sugar in your cereal; in fact eliminate cereal altogether from your menu.

Imitation A'gelfood Cake

Here is a good cake recipe. It is the kind to make when butter is scarce. Put a cup of milk into your double boiler and heat to the boiling point. Sift together four times one cup each of flour and sugar, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a pinch of salt, into this pour the cup of boiling hot milk and stir smooth, then add the whites of two eggs well beaten. Do not beat nor stir the eggs into the mixture but fold them in carefully, drawing the spoon through the butter towards you and pushing it back with the back of the spoon, then draw the spoon from right to left and shoving mixture back in same way. Repeat this until the whites of the eggs are evenly folded into the batter. Do not grease the tin nor flavor the cake. Bake in a moderate oven and frost with white icing.
